"LAWLESSNESS WALKED THE STATE LIKE A PESTILENCE."

GOVERNOR AYCOCK STATED IN HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS THAT UNDER, AND THEREFORE BY IM-PLICATION IN CONSEQUENCE OF, FUSION RULE "LAWLESSNESS WALK-ED THE STATE LIKE A PESTILENCE, favoritism. CRIME STALKED ABROAD AT NOON DAY, SLEEP LAY DOWN WITH ALARM AND THE SOUND OF THE PISTOL WAS MORE FREQUENT THAN THE SONG OF THE MOCKING BIRD.' HOW STANDS THE CASE TO-DAY GOVERNOR? HAVEN'T THE ACTS OF THREE RED SHIRT LEGISLATURES AND MORE THAN TWO YEARS OF YOUR OWN BENEFICENT RULE PASSED INTO HISTORY SINCE YOU PROCLAIMED THE FOREGOING? WHEN YOU ARE CAVORTING OVER THE STATE WHOOPING FOR EDUCA-TION AND ROADS DON'T YOU HEAR OF MORE CRIMES BEING COMMITED IN NORTH CAROLINA THAN EVER BEFORE AND DO YOU CONTINUE TO ATTRIBUTE THESE TOFUSION RULE?

HOW IS IT AT HOME?

There is a surplus of money in the United States Treasury and this grafters. fact seems to prey on the minds of the Democrats. The following is from the Rateigh Times of last Orange county in writing us a few Tuesday:

"What difference does it make if the present fiscal expenses of the government should exceed its income when there is a big surplus of the people's taxes piled up in the treasury at Washington to make want you to turn on the light and good the deficit?"

Where is the deficit? For the doing," We thank our friend for fiscal year ended June 30, 1897, the the kind words he speaks of our last year of President Cleveland's paper and we promise him and all administration, there was a deficit other that we will turn on the of $18,000,000, and since this time light. And all who want to keep this deficit has not only been overposted as to the mis-doings of the come, but for the current fiscal year red-shirt crowd are invited to read ---- tod (Domonwatio ass thority) that there will be a surplus of $14,000,000. Now will the Times tell us how much surplus was in the States' Treasury when the Fusionist turned it over to the Democrats and will it go a little further and tell us how much surplus there is in the State's Treasury today, after four years of Democratic "good government"? There was a surplus of several thousand dollars when the democrats took the State's finances in charge, but today, after increasing the people's taxes and after having issued thousands and thousands of dollars in bonds the State is woefully in debt. When · the voters of the State put the Democratic machine in office it is worse on them than giving a chattel mortgage on their 'land and household and kitchen furniture, for they have to pay for their folly in taxes in the fall, not to the merchants, but for the support of Democratic officials who are responsible for the campaign speeches, or isn't the redeficit in the State Treasury, for the port to be given out until after the scarcity of labor in the State and election this fall? for many other things too numerous to mention.

Yes the big whiskey trusts are satisfied with the Watt's Law, be cause it drives the little fellow out of business. We are informed that the whiskey trusts put up money to secure the passage of the Watts Law. But, however, the law also provided for Nick Williams, a member of the Democratic State Executive Committee to continue to make whiskey at his same old stand in the country. This is another example of Democratic stop at disfranchising the negro,

Agony From Inherited Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

One person in every four has a weak heart. Unless promptly treated a weak heart will easily become a diseased heart. A little extra strain from any cause is sufficient to bring on this deadly malady, the most common cause of sudden death. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will tone up the heart's action, enrich the blood and improve the circulation.

"My trouble began with catarrh and I have always supposed it caused the trouble I have experienced with my heart. I had the usual ymptoms of sleeplessness, lost appetite, constipation, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and pain around the heart and under left arm. My mother suffered in the same way and I suppose mine was an inherited tendency. At one time I was in agony. I suffered so severely and became so weak that my doctors said I could not live thirty days. At this time I had not slept over two hours a night on account of nervousness.
The least exercise, such as walking about, would bring on palpitation and fluttering of the heart so severe that I would have to give up everything and rest. Nerve and Liver Pills cured me of constipation and heart symptoms disappeared under the influence of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. I am in better health than I have been in twelve years and I thank Dr. Miles' Remedies for it.

J. Merriam, in the change for corn, meat, flour, hay, etc. There is a tendency right now to plant all the best land in cotton and stick the corn in anywhere around the edges.

Now, friends, this will not do! The price of corn is advancing as well as the price of cotton. It is already worth seventy cents a bushel in Atlanta, and going higher. We must lay our plans to make what cern we will need for home consumption at least, then we shall be able to keep some of our cotton money when we get it. We should, therefore, divide up our land and make a good corn crop as well as cotion crop.

All through the upper part of Georgia and adjoining States the practice is to plant corn on the river and creek bottoms year after year, and with little or no fertilizer. Where the land is overflown periodically by creek or river the fertility of the land is fairly well maintained and even increased: But there is a very large amount of bottom land that does not become overflown, and on such land the yield of corn is becoming lighter year by year. It still grows a fairly good stalk, but the ears are nothing like so heavy as This falling off is undoubtedly due

The growth of stalks also indicates that there is at least a fair supply of ammonia. The ear, however, is deficient, and ears are what we want. When we realize that a crop of fifty bushels of corn per acre actually removes from an acre of land sixtyseven pounds of hitrogen, thirty-one pounds of phosphoric acid and eighty where we desire to use the crop for pounds of potash, we can better understand why, if the supply of plant food is not renewed, the ears will grow smaller from year to year. If our yield per acre is only twenty-five bushels, the drain upon the soil will be half the above amount, and to meet this and increase our yield of corn from get them to climb on a stalk. Planting Cowpeas With Corn. W. M. W., Jonesboro, Tenn., writest Please tell me whether sorghum grown on the same land two years in succes: sion would be advisable. Is it best to sow it by itself or mix peas with it? I want to sow cowpeas in corn after cultivating a few times; what is the best way? If I plant a vary viny pea, as the Clay or Black, where the corn is planted, would they injure the corn, or should I wait until the corn gets start? Are beans very exhausting to the plant food that is in the ground? It is not advisable to grow sorghunt on the same land for two years in succession: This is not because sorghum is so much harder on the land than that this particular tree was between many other crops, but a rotation rests the land, and any strong, vigorous-growing crop yielding as freely as sorghund does, draws heavily on the fertility of the land. It is, therefore, advisable to change the cropping as much as possible. It is all right to grow sorghum and cowpeas together. The only difficulty we have ever experienced has been to get a large enough per cent: of peas: By eareful examination we have found sorghum and peas sown for silage not |. to contain on an average more than seven or eight per cent. of peas, though in some instances it has gone the last cultivation. They may be sown down the middle of the row or planted close to the corn stalks. When planting is delayed so long, it is better to plant them the middle of the row. There is no reason why peas should not be sown at the same time of the corn; provided danger of frost is past. We sow our corn and peas together silage or for fodder. The very viny varieties of peas help to increase the fertility of the soil, but as a rule they do not climb as well as the Whippoor-will or Lady, and if you desire to gather the pea crop with the idea of enriching the food, it is necessary to cannot gather them, the part left on the ground can be grazed off or turned under for the enrichment of the land for the following crop. Peas planted | with corn and sorghum do not injure the crop to any appreciable extent: can thus assimilate atmospheric nitrogen and so help enrich the soil in that element. They draw rather heavily on the phosphates and potash of the soil and so it is well to supply these Ar. Montg., A.&W.P.

Century Old Colorado Tree:

There are many large specimens of the brown cedar, juniperus monosperma, in the Garden of the Gods, Pike Peak, Colo. Prof. Bessey of the University of Nebraska, during a recent visit to that place, made an effort to ascertain the age of some of the magnificent specimens. He was fortunate enough to find the stump of a recently cut tree on which it was easy to distinguish the annual growth rings. These were counted and it was found 800 and 1,000 years old.

Subaltern Fooled the Colonel. I doubt if the pranks of the present day subaltern are as pluckish as those of his predecessors. I can remember a story that went the rounds some years ago of a daring junior of the Grenadier Guards who chaffed his colonel in a fashion that would not be tolerated to-day. But the colonel was not disposed to deal leniently with him. He kept unusually late or rather early hours, so one day an early parade was ordered unexpectedly, and five minutes before the hour the colonel rode past the culprit's quarters. Cheerfully unconscious of impending doom, the latter leaned out of his bedroom window in the airy garments of sleep to say good morning. The colonel chuckled and rode on. but to his surprise at the stroke of time the subaltern stepped out on parade, fully dressed and all in order. He knew of the trap and had donned the looset garment over his uniform to take a rise out of his superior .--London Tattler.

American Known by His French.

When Judge Ashman of Philadelphia was last in Paris, he determined to try life in a pension. He had been told of a nice house, but had also been told that the hostess spoke very little English. Consequently, as he walked there from the hotel where he was temporarily stopping the judge carefully prepared a neat little speech of introduction, composed in what he presumed was classic French. He arrived, he rang the bell, the hostess appeared, and the judge began, "Josuls un American" (I am an American), and so down to a graceful close. The lady had listened politely to every syllable, and then she said in the purest English, "Pardon me, sir, but will you please tell me again just what sort of lodgings you are looking for?" "My own opinion is," adds the judge, as he tells the story, "that she doubted, from that ambitious effort of mine, whether I could talk any language so as to make myself understood."-Philadelphia Press.
